Could This Be What You're Looking For?

“The successful person is one who had the chance and took it”

—Roger Babson—

Yes, it could well be! People throughout the world are taking advantage of the innovative business model briefly covered in this book. It's people teaming up with others who also want to resolve their time and money issues and live their dreams.

At one time, generating a substantial income from home had been something few people could do very successfully. But now you, too, can partake of the growing profits being generated by owning a home-managed business that's supported by a team of experienced business development mentors and coaches. They build "communities" of other home-managed business owners, as well as consumers, who purchase goods and services both online and via more traditional methods like catalogs and toll-free ordering.

Basically, you have three options regarding what you can do with this opportunity:

- 1) Ignore it and maintain the status-quo.
- 2) Be a consumer to save time and money.
- 3) Profit from its exciting growth, without affecting your current job or business.

Are you going to take advantage of this opportunity, or let it go by like you may have done with other opportunities in the past? You don't want to regret it later and say, "If only I had taken advantage of that opportunity when I first learned about it, I'd be so much further ahead today! Why didn't I do it?"

What if some people you know or hear about take advantage of it and run with it, and achieve more of their dreams and goals? Would you be sorry if you hadn't done so yourself?

Obviously, everyone, including those who are already making a great living, would like to have more time and money. But when an opportunity comes along to do just that, most people, unfortunately, aren't even made aware of it. It's not their fault. They just don't know about it, so they simply continue doing what they're doing, even though they might want things to change. Anticipating things will soon get better, they keep busy following the same routine, not realizing they could also be following their dream.

As you might expect, the results are predictable. If they don't do something about it, things usually stay the same or even go downhill. For example, they could find themselves involved in a layoff or rightsizing. But now, here's a chance to guard against events like that from negatively affecting your lifestyle.

So, what four things do most people with their time and money issues resolved have in common?

- 1) They come from all walks of life.
- 2) They seized opportunity when it knocked.
- 3) They're no more intelligent or better qualified than you or me.
- 4) They made a decision and took appropriate action.

So, how can you become one of them? Read this book. Learn about a vehicle you can use to help you resolve your time and money issues, get out of debt, build more financial security, and live the life you desire.

Do you know how to generate a strong secondary income from home without being a techno-wizard or business genius? You're about to get a brief overview of an exciting business model that can help you do so. You'll learn how you can possibly become a part of it and diversify your income with it.

By following a proven business development system, guided by a dedicated support team of mentors and coaches, coupled with the speed and power of online and offline business capabilities—you, too, have a new opportunity to increase your prosperity.

Obviously, only you have the final say in how you choose to live the rest of your life. Would you like to make an even more informed decision about your future? This book can help you do that.

Can you recall your childhood dreams where you could be, do, and have anything you wanted? How did you imagine your life would be as an adult? If you're not quite where you'd like to be in life, here's an opportunity for you to do something about it.

Have you noticed a decline in shoppers at the local malls, and even store closings, because of more people doing business and shopping from home?

Do you realize that the Post Office, UPS, FedEx, and other package delivery services are enjoying significant increases in business, because of more people doing business and shopping from home?

Are you aware that there's a continuing decrease in the time people spend watching primetime television, as millions choose to spend increasing amounts of time online?

Fortunately, you don't have to be a computer wizard or business genius to take advantage of this opportunity. It's a high-tech/high-touch business, where people are the most important part. It's people using technology, both low-tech toll-free catalog ordering and high-tech online components, helping others leverage their way to greater success. They build relationships—the most valuable asset of any business—offline, while using the latest technology online.

You don't need to create a website; it's already been done! This and other technical aspects have been taken care of. You simply use the site already developed and maintained by your business development support team.

You may also find your children eager to help you with your business. It would be a fun, educational experience for them, and draw you all closer together!

Yes, a golden opportunity is knocking on your door; loud and clear. Go ahead and seize it! Open your mind and unlock your vision for a brighter future. Once and for all, accelerate your progress toward resolving your time and money issues and living your dream.

Read Time and Money 2 Live Your Dream and discover the possibilities—for you!

So, How Can
You Benefit from the Expansive Growth of This Innovative Business?

*“Some great people are leaders and others

I’d put myself in the latter category.”

— Steve Wozniak —

B*ill Gates*, founder of Microsoft, richest man in the world and well-known philanthropist, along with his wife, Melinda, wouldn’t be where they are today if it weren’t for his innovative technology.

Michael Dell, business innovator and founder of Dell Computers, said that, “It’s through curiosity and looking at opportunities in new ways that we’ve always mapped out our path at Dell. There’s always an opportunity to make a difference.”

Jeff Bezos, founder of Amazon.com, said that, “If you do build a great experience, customers tell each other about that. Word of mouth is very powerful.”

Steven Jobs and Steve Wozniak, founders of Apple Computers, started the personal computer revolution and became “zillionaires.” Jobs, who also co-founded Pixar Animation, said that “Our belief was that if we kept putting great products in front of customers, they would continue to open their wallets.”

“Sure, those people are on top of their game, but how can that help me increase my prosperity?” you ask. Well, you’re about to learn about an exciting business opportunity that can help you do that. It uses the technology and ideas they and others have developed. And it could help take you where you want to go, whether it’s to realize your wildest dreams, or earn just a couple hundred extra dollars a month. It’s up to you.

Fortunately, someone thought highly enough of you and your abilities to lend you this book. Perhaps they noticed something about you that you may not have seen in yourself.

It could have been something you said. Maybe it was your enthusiasm that caught their attention.

Or, perhaps, they consider you a friend worthy of sharing good news with.

But regardless of the reason they shared this book with you, you can feel complimented they did. After you've finished reading it, you might notice, more than ever, the news stories about the phenomenal growth of online business-to-consumer spending. You may also start becoming more aware of the trend toward home-managed business ownership.

According to Paul Zane Pilzer, world-renowned economist and former economic advisor in two US Presidential administrations, ten million people, in the US alone, will become millionaires over the next ten years. He believes many of them will be home-managed business owners who share, or teach, others about what they have to offer, while also utilizing the web.

As you know, the web is certainly a convenient tool for making personal purchases, but it's also a wonderful tool for business. As Pilzer suggests, it's a part of the business model discussed in this book. Not only can people save time and money from the comfort of their own homes when they shop, but now they can also earn money while more efficiently operating a home-managed business.

What a great scenario!

More importantly, you'll begin to see how you could possibly take advantage of a dynamic business opportunity, that's on the cutting edge of what's happening in the marketplace. What you won't get, though, is something for nothing. This is not a get-rich-quick scheme. There are no guarantees that this is even what you're looking for.

But, what if it is?

Pilzer goes on to emphasize that, "As powerful as the Internet is, it hasn't replaced the one-on-one, personal function..., and it never will. Business is about serving other people. The better you are at giving people something that improves their lives, the more successful you are and the more money you make."

The main component of this innovative business model reflects Pilzer's thinking. It has been developed to give people, from all walks of life, a chance to get in on the action. But just like any worthwhile endeavor, the rewards go to those who earn them based on the effectiveness of the time and effort expended.

Unfortunately, some people you may know are under the illusion that they can keep doing the same things, and somehow their time and money issues will magically resolve themselves. But this is a dangerous belief that can lead to a lifetime of disappointment and regret.

The key factor here is that we all get what we focus on. Whether we realize it or not, we are where we are in life because that's what we've focused on.

Isn't that the truth?

Yes, everyone focuses on something, and that's what they get, provided they persist long enough. So, to resolve any time and money issues you may have and build more financial security, you might want to consider focusing more on doing that!

For example, whoever focuses on watching TV sitcoms will know all about the characters and stories. But that's not going to make them more financially secure. Whereas, if they would invest that same time in this opportunity, they would have the potential to resolve their time and money issues.

Dreams and goals form our vision of the future, which is what the most successful people focus on. Pursuing them more wholeheartedly will give you a sense of satisfaction and vitality, like nothing else in life can. You will be more pleased than ever, and have a greater feeling of accomplishment in the process of achieving them. You'll also have a happier, more rewarding life.

Yes, this home-managed business is expanding! Don't let its growth pass you by. Fortunately, the steps you can take in order to profit from its growth have all been carefully laid out, paving the way for your increased success.

Your next step is simply to finish reading this book.
